

HOW WAR IS FOUGHT ON ALL FRONTS

BRIEF SUMMARY OF HAPPENINGS OF PAST TWENTY-FOUR HOURS IN EUROPE.

ITALIANS ARE BRAVE

General Trend of News Points Towards Heavy Losses for the Central Powers.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Italian possession of Venice and the security of the Piave lie depend apparently on the outcome of the desperate battle now in progress between the Adige and Brenta river. The Austro-Germans are attacking heavily and advancing against the stout resistance of the Italians.

If the invaders have captured Monte Tomba as claimed by Berlin, they are within a few miles of the plains behind the Piave. The Italians are defending this position, but the Germans have advanced a mile within the last few days and seemingly are attempting to drive a wedge between the Italians in the region of Oseago and those along the Piave. Monte Tomba is on the western side of the Piave, and six miles northwest of Vicenza.

Many Reinforcements.

The Austro-Germans are exerting strong pressure here, and are reported to have sent up Austrian troops from the eastern front, and to have transferred General von Budow's army to this sector. Apparently the Anglo-French reinforcements have not yet reached the Italian fighting zone, and from Italian headquarters it is announced these troops could be used between the Piave and Brenta where the pressure is strongest.

Around Oseago the Italians have held the Germans and have been successful in offensive operations. Defeated in strong efforts to cross the Piave between Vidor and the Adriatic Sea, the Austro-Germans have ceased their attempts. The artillery fire along the West Front is very violent.

On the western front the infantry activity has increased somewhat. The British have made a slight advance northwest of Passchendaele and repulsed German attacks at other points in the Ypres salient. In the region of the Meuse, northeast of Verdun, the French have made an appreciable advance, inflicting losses on the Germans.

On the American front the artillery firing continues active and there have been further clashes between American and German patrols. An American soldier has been killed in a fight in No Man's Land.

General Hear of Kerensky.

Premier Kerensky is reported to be at Luga, ninety miles west of Petrograd, where two army corps loyal to the committee for the salvation of the republic which is opposed to the Bolsheviks are stationed. The Bolsheviks now hold the upper hand in Petrograd, Moscow and other large cities, but it is indicated the question of the food supply now overshadows the political situation. The menace of famine has brought about a situation of hostility between the opposing factions, at least for the moment.

Lloyd George Safe.

The government of Premier Lloyd George apparently has been successful in facing the first serious attack on its administration. The premier in the house of commons has rebuked his critics and declared the new war council would co-ordinate the work of all war staffs and was not an attempt to place military power in the hands of the political.

Premier Lloyd George declared that two obstacles to be removed by the allies were lack of unity and the submarine menace. The new council would bring war activities under one body and the premier had no fear of submarines, five of the German under-water boats having been sunk last Saturday.

MISSING BOAT HAS LANDED IN IRELAND

London, Nov. 20.—The missing boat from the American steamer Rochester, which was sent to the bottom by a German submarine Nov. 2, has just landed at a port in Ireland. The British admiral announced today the boat, which carried five men, the only survivors of the original crew of twelve.

None has been abandoned for the second officer and eleven other men in a boat from the Rochester, who at the time of the arrival of the five survivors in Ireland had been missing for eighteen days. Vice Admiral Sims cabled the navy department on Saturday that these men had been given up as lost.

The landing of the five men reduced the Rochester's dead roll to 14 from 19. Four men died of exposure in another boat, two were killed by the explosion and one was drowned.

PLAN WITHDRAWAL OF THE PRIORITY ORDER

Washington, Nov. 20.—The fuel administration is considering withdrawal of the priority order under which all middle western coal shipments have been collied to lake ports for the northwestern territory. When this is done the coal will be diverted to the east to relieve shortages, particularly in New England.

POWDER DESTROYED IN NAVAL FACTORY

Washington, Nov. 20.—Fire of unknown origin last night destroyed a large quantity of powder at the naval powder factory at Indian Head, Maryland. One unidentified man is known to have been killed. An investigation is made.

Interest Centered On Allied Council Meeting in London

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

London, Nov. 20.—None of the numerous allied war councils which have occurred in the last three years have occasioned the same interest as to-day's historic meeting of the American war mission and the British war cabinet for tightening the link that chains the Anglo-American war efforts. The scene is the dingy old residence in Downey street which has served as the prime minister of many generations as both home and office, and the room is the council chamber where the cabinet meets and where the destiny of the empire has been shaped since the days of the American revolution. Lord Reading, the lord chief justice, will preside, with Andrew Bonar Law, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of state, and the treasury, at the table beside him. The military and naval heads of both governments, and officials representing other departments of war work will be grouped together. Premier Lloyd George planned to be present for the purpose of answering question. The general purpose of the meeting constitutes the taking of stock of the resources and needs of both countries and to some extent of the continental allies.

Gripping fear has seized the Austrians on the Mesaba, for while seven are under arrest, police know that the last but one murderer is still at large, hidden by the clan.

Premier Lloyd George planned to be present for the purpose of answering question. The general purpose of the meeting constitutes the taking of stock of the resources and needs of both countries and to some extent of the continental allies.

The double-bladed ax, property of the clan, was found in one corner of the kitchen. The picked slayer of the clan discarded the knife for the more effective, more terrible weapon, the ax.

A single blow crushed out the life of Trepich, as he lay asleep in his bed. The slayer went into the next room, where Alar and his wife lay asleep. He struck Alar on the skull and then spattered to the wooden crucifix a few feet from the head of the bed. The few who awoke, started to rise, to be struck down and her hands severed as she raised them in defense. The knife came into play in the lust of leaving terror in the wake of the murder. All dead from the ax blow, the clan murderer struck home with the knife with a savagery that startled even the hardened Mesaba police and their chiefs who dealt with the bloody chiefs.

The blow had been struck. The warning given, Austrian saw, heard and heeded. They knew nothing, saw nothing and would tell nothing. The ax man was at large. The clan was watching.

The feud theory became evident immediately after the robbery motive had been traced down as "rumor."

INVESTIGATION OF AX MURDER TO BARE A PRO-GERMAN PLOT

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 20.—Federal agents are now laying bare details of a pro-German plot on the Mesaba Range among Croatian-Austrian residents of the town and the British war cabinet for tightening the link that chains the Anglo-American war efforts. ## SHEEP SELECTED TO START NEW HERDS THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Novel Contest Arranged Under The Auspices of the Commercial Club.

A cardiot of western ewes was quartered at the Fair Grounds last Saturday and will be distributed in flocks of three to thirty-seven, to the boys and girls in Rock County in what is known as the Rock County Sheep Growing Contest, and given under the auspices of the Janesville Commercial Club.

The sheep growing industry of the county is to receive a considerable impetus through the arrangement which is now practically completed, for the placing of thirty-seven flocks of sheep on the fair and the raising of those which have not heretofore been producers of sheep. These are known as "Foundation Flocks" and Rock County boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 19 will be eligible for participation in this very profitable phase of stock raising.

The sheep were selected by an expert in the person of John Cooper of Clinton, through the famous Wilson Stock Farm of Burlington, Wis., where some 20,000 sheep are handled each year.

County Agent, L. A. Markham who has been actively interested and who is also looking after details of the contest, together with Secretary of the Kuhn of the Commercial Club, visited the Wilson Farm last week and were given an opportunity of making the selection from some 500 high grade Wensley lambs and the flock as they have been brought here, are splendidly graded for size and general quality.

The introduction of these flocks of sheep to the young people of Rock County, who are interested in stock raising, is of great importance to the community. The Commercial Club appreciate the need for a crease produced in meats for food, and understanding the shortage of beef and pork, because of the extreme shortage of feed, have made possible the opportunity for producing stock for the country, as well as creating a desire in the young people to take part in a very profitable enterprise.

The results of the contest are produced in growth and prizes will be awarded for increase in the flock and interest reports made by the contestants. And boys and girls are eligible so long as they can be vouchsed for by the county agent, whose direction they are under.

The welfare of the enterprise will be in the hands of those accomplished sheep raisers who have had years of experience in the business and whose qualifications are admirably adopted to the purpose.

The county has been divided into six sections, and each supervisor will have charges of those flocks in the hands of boys or girls within his division. The supervisors selected are: John Clark of Harmony; George Hull of Johnston; Seth Crall, Conter; John Cooper, Bradford; John Beck; W. A. Howell, Beloit; Dean and Mrs. George L. Clegg of Beloit College, and Rev. John White, Springfield, Illinois.

The sheep will be at the fair grounds for about three weeks when the arrangements will have been completed and those boys and girls selected for the contest have been properly certified and they will come to Janesville and drawing secure their part of the flock, so the selection of the sheep will be absolutely fair to all concerned.

The Commercial Club directors have obligated themselves to pay the sheen which cost $1,000, plus this together with the freight and other expenses, will make the total up to nearly $1,000, and interest bearing notes will be taken from the boys and girls for their sheep, payable in one year. No payment of cash will be required, the idea being to furnish the required, the idea being to furnish the sheep in such a way that those participating may not be inconvenienced in their work.

Rules for Rock County Sheep Club Contest.

The Rock County Sheep Club Contest is open to boys and girls in Rock County between the ages of thirteen to nineteen, inclusive, who live on farms where no sheep are kept at present.

A boy who enters the Rock County Sheep Club Contest, must be vouched for by one of the appointed supervisors and the contest agent.

Any boy or girl who cares to enter this sheep club, must make application to one of the supervisors. All those whose applications are accepted will be furnished with three ewes, which are to be cared for on his farm under the direction of one of those supervisors, the boy or girl to give his or her note for the value of the sheep, payable in one year after the date the sheep are received, with interest of 6%.

Prizes will be awarded on the following basis:

- 35% increase in flock.
- 35% fleece.
- 30% interest in reports.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor:

The government has asked that Janesville meet its share of the necessary funds of the National Recreation association. This money is to save our boys from the demoralization of vice in the towns near the camp and especially in Europe. We want our boys protected, and besides it is coming to be seen that no munitions nor bread, but morale is going to win this war.

The mayor has appointed a committee to get our quota, which is $1,200.

The committee senses the tremendous importance of this fund; but in view of the fact that the sum is not large, and the fact that more drives for money will soon be due, they have decided to raise this money with the co-operation of the people of our city without personal solicitation.

We believe the community will appreciate this and will respond accordingly.

The Committee.

CAMP CUSTER READY FOR ARRIVAL OF MEN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 20.—With men still rolling into the camp today from Michigan and Wisconsin for military training, the entire community assumed a more business-like aspect. Everywhere bustle and bustle and rush governed the movements of men from one barracks to another the preparations for the remaining 20 days of arrival.

At the camp is not lagging. War work forces full speed ahead.

Men arriving yesterday were dressed in the army uniform today. They started the elementary drills. Men older in the service continued the drills at parrying and thrusting, throwing bombs and grenades, and rifle practice.

Every move is confronted with obstacles and difficulties to harden the men for their more trying and greatly more intensive training overseas.

While the physical comforts and conveniences are not lacking, discipline is the watchword.

The heating apparatus is entirely complete. Until recently it was one of the perplexing problems. Surrounding of this obstacle quickly illustrates the genuine speed with which all matters are handled.

Communicating itself to the soldiers themselves this spirit of hurry-up is converting the one-time peaceful civilians into fighters eager to get at the guns. They want to fight—and they want to fight soon.

Uncle Sam does not want the people to go hungry; he only asks that there be no unnecessary waste and that we substitute other food products in place of such much wheat, beef, mutton and pork, so that there may be a saving of these products, that there may be an abundance to send across the water, and that our own soldier boys may have no lack.

Columbia Grafonola and Columbia Records

Hear it in the store—
Play it there yourself

YOU are to regard every man who sells Columbia Grafonolas as a man who is only too glad to let you learn about the Columbia Grafonola, to let you hear the instrument played, and to let you play it. Further, that he wants you to play your choice of records—those you like the best—the favorites that you select from the catalogue of Columbia records which you will find in the Columbia salesrooms.

It may be three months or four months before you are ready to order a phonograph. It may be even longer than that. But the time you are welcome to come in and hear the Columbia Grafonola played is now and all the time. You are invited to play the Columbia Grafonola with your own hands in the dealer's store. He would like to have you wind the Grafonola—see how easily it winds. Turn the crank and notice how evenly and smoothly the motor-spring absorbs the tension which the winding of the crank puts on it.

Change the needle—play different records. Open and close the tone-leaves, thus increasing or diminishing the volume of sound, and notice how this distinctive Columbia feature gives you a practical and at the same time scientific music control.

Play the high-priced Grafonolas and the low-priced ones. If you have children, bring them along, and let the records which you think will appeal to them most be brought. Play them to the children.

"Our Boys In France Tobacco Fund"

The Daily Gazette has joined the movement to assist in providing tobacco for the soldiers across the water and to provide a means for the public to purchase at a moderate investment a kit of tobacco which can be sent directly from the "Funds" headquarters at 25 West 44th St., New York, to the fellows who are fighting in the trenches.

"Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund," has been established for some months and is a national institution, having the endorsement of both the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy of the United States.

The tobacco of Europe is very poor and Americans want the tobacco from home. As our young aviator friend now in France, E. H. Van Galder, wrote a few weeks ago, "A French cigarette would kill a mule."

There is a shortage of "smokes" "over there" and if you can pick out a fellow as your particular man to keep in tobacco, you will carry joy to the trenches; if you don't know anyone in particular and have the inclination to send the supplies, forward your money to the Gazette and it will be sent with the regular remittance to New York where it will find its way to the boys who want the tobacco.

One dollar keeps one of the boys supplied a month so you see the joy such a donation affords the boys "over there."

All money and instructions should be sent to the Daily Gazette, indicated for Tobacco Fund. Samples of the Tobacco Kits may be seen at this office.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, Nov. 19.—The Men's B. I. class held a banquet at the Dougherty hall Friday evening, which proved a very profitable and enjoyable evening for those who were privileged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Harper have bought the farm owned by Mrs. William Levow, one-quarter mile south of Magnolia Corners, better known as the Mrs. Hyatt Weaver farm, possession to be taken on or before March 1st, 1918.

Again our Red Cross treasury is nearly empty, and again we must all do our bit to help replenish it. A big social will be held at the Dougherty hall Friday evening, Nov. 30, for the Red Cross benefit, at which time we expect to entertain you with a fine entertainment. Old and young must enter into the spirit and come with supper for two. Our very congenial auctioneer, Col. Wm. Finneran, will carry the sales and depend upon it, he will not let you pay a cent for the supper. You will observe that the social is the night following Thanksgiving day, so if you are invited to Thanksgiving dinner, just prevail upon your hostess to loan you some of the goodies for your box.

Of course if you are entertaining, it will be an easy matter to hide enough to fill your box for the social. Every one in the town of Magnolia and in every other town who can come, are expected to be present. Let's make it a hundred dollar night. Everybody will be anxiously waiting for Thursday night to roll around, when Torgor of Victrol fame, gives the second number on the lecture course.

EXPECT TOO MUCH.

Enthusiastic workers for various causes too often overlook the fact that they expect men's work and men's results out of mere boys and are prone to scold and scorn them if they do not measure up to their special measure of requirements.

The boy in his teens is in a critical period. Scorn and derision for failure to do as his mates do, to join this or that movement and make subscriptions for various funds, often lead to serious results. These enthusiastic gentlemen who call boys slackers because they do not quickly respond to demands made upon them, evidently fail to understand that Wisconsin has a rigid age limit for employment of boys and that it is almost prohibitory against their working for gain or wages under the age of fourteen, and then only in certain lines of employment and under certain conditions.

To ask the average boy to contribute ten dollars to this or that fund and then cast shame upon him for failure to respond is not right. Often the boy, to escape the stigma attached to him for failure to do as asked will pledge himself to conditions which he knows he can not meet and which his parents, perhaps a widowed mother or a hard working father, will have to pay to make good his pledge.

Enthusiasm is all right, but you must not expect too much of the average boy and scold and berate him if he does not meet your requirements. Better devote these energies to coaxing the money from tight-fisted old codgers who had rather draw six per cent on earth, foreclose mortgages and turn out widows and orphans than give a few hundred to saving lives of many and making possible the democracy of the world by conquest of the enemy.

The boy will come along and be all right, if you give him time, but do not crowd him too hard.

The fact that $35,000,000 was wanted in the recent drive, which means less than thirty-five cents from each individual in the United States shows how out of proportion the demand for $10.00 from school boys was.

COST OF SOLDIERS.

It doesn't make an American feel very proud to read that it costs us $14.00 to equip a soldier, where Germany can do it for $1.00. Of course some considerations enter into these figures that exaggerate their significance. They probably include the cost of all the ships we must build to get the supplies to the soldiers, also what we must spend to get destroyers to protect those ships from submarines. It is manifestly a great deal more costly to supply an army three thousand miles away than one close at home.

Also they probably include the cost of rehabilitating the railroad systems of France, building docks and ports, deepening channels, etc. We have to build cantonments for training the army in the United States, and more cantonments abroad to complete their education. But after these cantonments are constructed, and after the railroads and docks and storehouses are completed in France, that part of the work won't need going over.

The American soldier will be fed much better than the German. He will have comforts the German never expects. We would not be satisfied to do less for him.

With all these allowances made, the cost of equipping our men will be too high. It will be so because we had to do it all in a hurry. We were not able to foresee the great need for instant action. Had we taken more seriously the threats Germany was making against us, had we begun years before the work of assuring our safety, the cost of preparation could have been cut in two. But of course hindsight is better than foresight, and regrets are vain now.

In view of these costs, labor should be moderate in its demands for higher wages, and capital should limit itself to small profits. Every class must expect to make sacrifices to win this war.

POLITICAL PROMOTIONS.

The war department has issued a notice to the men at some of the army camps warning them not to ask for any promotions through political influence. Politics is so ingrained in American life that it is a natural thing that some of our army boys should seek this way of getting ahead.

It has been the principle that when anyone wants anything within the gift of his government, he should "see" his congressman. He thinks it is not necessary for him to perfect himself in the line in which he is seeking an opportunity, if he has political pull.

That thing may go in civil life, but fortunately it has no great influence in the army and is not likely to. The army men do not want officers who obtained their positions through friendship. They want the best talents there is. When a fellow begins to pull wires, it will look as if he knew he couldn't get by on merit.

OUR BOYS.

Those Rock county boys who have responded to the call of the colors, no matter in what line of service, on sea or land, in the air, in training camps here or abroad, are all "our boys." They are our personal representatives in the field of activities. Nothing should be too good for them and all we can do for them is effort well expended. On Saturday night Company C of the 331st Machine Gun Battalion, stationed at Camp Grant, will hold a benefit dance in the city, tickets for which are now being sold. This company is made up exclusively of Rock county residents and the money thus raised goes into their company fund and it is to be hoped the first venture will be successful. Remember they are "Our Boys" and are doing their "bit" with the vim and vigor that their work demands.

After blaming the allies for not concentrating all attention on the western front, it is the opinion of the grocery store parliament that a great mistake was made in not helping the Russians, Italians and Serbians.

The Rock county boys who wasted their time playing baseball, to the regret of anxious elderly relatives, are now the ones who are distinguishing themselves by throwing grenades in the trenches.

Those wise and far-sighted residents of Janesville who bought up a lot of two cent stamps in advance to avoid the new rates, now have the pleasure of licking two stamps instead of one each time.

After the soldiers have gone hungry from lack of ships to transport supplies, their views as to right of work people to strike under war conditions will be likely to undergo some modifications.

The stock market people that have completely lost hope of the foreign situation are the same ones who about three months ago thought the war would be over by Christmas.

The next time the Italians set out to have a pleasant afternoon playing the hurdy-gurdy in the front yard, they should see to it that the back door is securely locked.

It is suggested in view of the sugar shortage that the candy users restrain themselves and eat only enough to feel sick, instead of enough to turn their stomachs.

The fact that the food dealers know all about things that make food cost higher, does not prove that they saw in the papers about canned goods coming down.

Even if General Pershing's men eliminated 50,000 Germans from the war in one week, there are still some people who say that we can't win this war.

The people who are so pleased to get an automobile might be reminded that the motor cars kill more people than dread scourges like typhoid fever.

The Germans seem to have invaded Italy just about far enough to heal up the political divisions that have impeded Italy's advance.

Some of the patriotic citizens will begin saving money for the next Liberty loan about ten days before the loan campaign is over.

Some people are opposed to the war, as now they have only five lumps of sugar for their coffee where formerly they had six.

The most excellent method of lighting a ship when devised was used by the sailors when they threw a German admiral overboard.

Some men expect to make up the tax on club dues by the cigars they have given them by hanging around the club.

It's about time to find out pretty accurately at what time the enemy aliens go to bed on dark nights.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

My butcher is doubtless an honest and pleasant fellow when he is not butchering.

But I have never seen him at such a time.

The other day I read in the paper that he had fallen three cents a pound.

The paper said that porterhouse which had been retailed at 45 cents should now retail at 43 cents.

At 43 cents, I hastened to my butcher.

And ordered three pounds of porterhouse.

He did not charge me 45 cents a pound for it.

No, indeed. He charged me 43 cents.

I told him what the paper had said.

About a reduction in price, and he said.

He had never learned to read, and his wife could not read, and he had no one to teach him.

Read to him. "Anyhow," he said, "if I could read the papers I wouldn't believe everything they printed."

Secretary of War Baker says the major portion of the army will be in France soon.

But how about the colonel portion?

What?

It has been a long time since we have heard anybody called a slackner. Slackner seems to have gone out of style. More than that, it is impossible.

A man may start out to be a perfectly good slackner, but before the day is over he is doing something for the government, quite unconsciously. If he isn't doing it, which he is, he is paying for it with his cigarettes.

The most ambitious slackner loses his punch when he has to pay three cents to mail a letter. He hasn't a chance on earth.

And so it had come to this.

SOLDIERLY. The glory of a soldier, and a soldier's not a saint. In the way he does his duty without grumbling or complaint. His work's not always pleasant, but he does it right or else. And he grows up a bit of a glory when he's whistling in the line. But the lesson that he teaches every day to me is that we do to do a duty that we do not like to do.

Any sort of chap can whistle when his work is mostly fun. A hundred won't be pleasant jobs to every sturdy one.

That'll be the dreary duty an' the mean an' lowly task.

Or the drab and cheerless service that life often has to ask.

But somebody has to do it, an' the test of me an' you.

Is the way we face the labor that we do not like to do.

Now, it isn't very pleasant standin' guard out in the rain.

But it's in the line of duty, an' no soldier will complain.

An' there isn't any soldier but what sometimes hates his work.

When the dress parade is over, an' perhaps he'd like to sit.

But he's there to follow orders, not to pick an' choose his post.

An' he sometimes shuns the finest at the job he hates the most.

Let's be soldiers in the struggle, let's be loyal through and through.

Life is going to give us duties that we will hate to do.

There'll be little sacrifices that we will not like to make.

There'll be many tasks unpleasant that we'll have to take.

An' all those we'll do will rather do the work that brings applause.

Let's forget our whims and fancies an' just labor for the cause.

APPROPRIATION FOR HIGHWAYS DOUBLED

COMMITTEE ON HIGHWAYS SUBMITS REPORT OF MONEY NEEDED FOR COMING YEAR.

CALLS FOR $61,362.19

Resolution to Adopt Report Voted Down 30 to 9—Objected to as Class Legislation.

Supervisor Richardson's report of the committee on highways introduced this morning at the adjourned meeting of the county board, was the subject of considerable discussion, which lasted over an hour. The report as approved by the committee, calls for an appropriation of $61,362.19 to be expended by the city for constructing the concrete causeway.

To this amount the state will add an equal sum and federal aid will also give the same amount, making a grand total of $180,373.55 to be used for the buildings of roads in 1918. A majority of the supervisors were in favor of cutting the appropriation because they were of the opinion that this would be a heavy burden on the taxpayers of the county in view of the fact that $26,000 was appropriated last year.

Supervisor Richardson then proposed a plan to cut the sum to be used for roads off of the trunk line system. He suggested that the $33,470 to be used for this purpose be reduced to about $13,000, and that the amount necessary to build the concrete trunk line from Beloit to Janesville remain the same, $24,000.

This plan was objected to by the town supervisors as they claimed that it was unjust to spend such a large amount on one stretch of road. With the $24,000 recommended to be raised for the building of the Beloit-Janesville road, the state and national governments will each give an equal amount, which will make a total of $72,000. Only four and a half miles of the proposed concrete road can be completed with this amount, so a number of the supervisors favored spending the money for the construction of gravel roads throughout the county, where more miles could be completed.

To this, Supervisor explained that it was not his intention to reduce the $33,470 permanently, but only to keep out of the state budget for 1918 the money which could not possibly be used in the coming year, and to appropriate the money only as needed. He explained that it was necessary for the county to appropriate $24,000 for the concrete road, because if this was not raised, the county would lose its share of the state and federal aid.

Supervisor Parker suggested laying the road over into the May Avenue, but Supervisor McGowan explained that the law passed by the last legislature required the money be appropriated at the November meeting. He stated that he was heartily in favor of reducing the appropriation, but under this law it could not be done.

At this afternoon meeting, a resolution to adopt the report submitted by Supervisor Richardson was killed by a vote of 30 to 9. Every supervisor from the cities of Beloit and Janesville voted for the appropriation, but the remainder of them did not favor its adoption because they thought it was class legislation. All the arguments advanced by the city supervisors seemed to have an effect on the township representatives who remained under the impression that Janesville and Beloit could be the only places benefited by the concrete road.

Just what will be done in regard to the county highway appropriations is now a question, but it is certain that some action must be taken at an early date or the county will lose the state and federal aid.

A resolution introduced by Supervisor Wheeler at this morning's meeting called for the chairman to appoint a committee of three to look into the advisability of appointing a woman probation officer for the county. Supervisor McGowan stated that the county already had enough officers and that more would be useless. The resolution was killed by a unanimous vote.

The board adjourned at three o'clock this afternoon to meet again Friday, when the matter of the highway appropriation will probably be taken up again. As the matter rests now, there will be no roads built in the county next year.

William Desmond, star of numerous Triangle pictures, is another screen favorite who made a place from the speaking stage. Although his athletic build is there, firm chin and dark brows set beneath heavy eyebrows, combined with genuine dramatic ability, won for him a big following in many legitimate productions. Desmond's success has been greatest in film productions.

Born in Ireland, brought to New York at the age of one year, the usual number of years spent in the New York public schools, and then a chance in "Quo Vadis?" This, in a sentence, sums up his early years and brings him to the stage. Experimenting with parts in plays under Gleason, the Shuberts and Frohman. The leading role in "The Maid of Paradise" is the part in which he is best remembered in the "legit."

Since entering pictures he has distinguished himself in a variety of parts. At the start, he became famous for his "pardon" work in "Peggy" and "The Waifs." As the ne'er-do-well in "The Last of the Ingrahams," his work attracted wide attention and made exhibited "legit." After a number of other splendid characterizations he took the role of an aspiring playright in "The Icicle Ballet," just to show he had a sense of comedy.

Desmond, until the grim reaper entered recently, was the husband of Lillian Lamson, "sister of Nance O'Neill of legitimate fame. Mrs. Desmond died only a few days ago.

HELEN HOLMES
WANTS A BOY

About a year ago Helen Holmes adopted a baby girl, and named her Dorothy. Now Dorothy is two years old and lonesome. A little girl who lives in the Holmes' home has a small brother and is the envy of Dorothy's life.

Miss Holmes has decided to adopt a little baby boy so that Dorothy may no longer be lonesome, and word of this has already been sent abroad through private channels, that a large part of Miss Holmes' spare time for the past two weeks has been occupied in examining baby boys.

MR. OTIS SKINNER
AS MISTER ANTONIO

Great Character Actor Appears at Myers Theatre Last Night in the Role of An Itinerant Hurdy-Gurdy Man.

"Laugh when you want to laugh, and laugh when you want to cry" is the philosophy of Tony Camaradonio, the role portrayed by Ois Skinner at Myers Theatre last night in his latest comedy success "Mister Antonio."

The book is by Booth Tarkington, the well known novelist and dramatist. Tony is an Italian hurdy-gurdy man—Knight of the road, who believes there is good in everyone and puts his belief to a practical use by acting the Samaritan and helping a man out of trouble. In the hands of Mr. Skinner, Tony is a most lovable sort of a fellow, and is both picturesque and interesting. Comedy predominates in "Mister Antonio," but there are also several strong dramatic climaxes. Mr. Skinner's acting is rich, warm, alive, full of color, containing grace for the eye and music for the ear.

Mr. Skinner has most excellent support from Miss Eleanor Woodruff as Miss June Ramsey. Another important member of the cast is Joseph Lennan, who is widely known for his fine character acting. One of the greatest character parts in the play that played by Robert Harrison of Joe, a half-witted fellow who carries the hurdy-gurdy for Tony. Other members of the cast were most capable support. Mr. Skinner is Agnes Marc as Pearl, a woman of the cafes; Walter Scott, playing the "chief of police"; George A. Elton as the "minister"; Another important member of the cast is Captain, a white donkey. Captain not only draws the hurdy-gurdy, but also acts to do. He wage his ears and looks very knowing at times. The scene in which Tony seeks Captain, and after failing to get satisfaction from Joe, his half-witted assistant, is one of the most humorous scenes in the play.

A comparatively small audience greeted this splendid attraction. It was worthy of a larger attendance, and the management is to be congratulated upon its successful efforts in securing the presentation of this star of such an eminent actor as Mr. Skinner.

ATTENTION!

Company C, composed largely of Rock county boys, now stationed at Camp Grant, Rockford, need a "Mess Fund" with which to buy some of the little things to eat such as everyone wants at times. Not that they are not fed enough, they are. But to buy some of the things which are not on the army bill of fare.

Company M, now at Waco, Texas, had raised for them $1,000 and were very appreciative of it.

Company C will give a dance at the Armory, Saturday night, November 25, to raise a Mess Fund.

The Commercial Club stands sponsor for it and has arranged with a company of young ladies who will sell tickets to the dance at 50c per ticket.

Buy not only one ticket but several and show the boys we are with them.

A lot of the boys will be on hand in uniform.

Buy tickets and dance if you wish, or look on at the merry whirl if you prefer. But buy, and buy liberally.

Give Them a Rousing Welcome
That Means "Glad To See You Again."

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Last summer I met a young man twenty-two years of age. We fell in love with each other at first sight and he has been keeping steady company with me ever since. At that time I was going with a man who had been real nice to me, but he went with other girls, too, and every time he would go with a girl he would tell her that he didn't care for me, but just for her. Then he would tell me the same believe that this young man loved either of us?

(2) Do you think the man I am going with now would do such a thing? He never speaks of marriage, but I know that he will marry me? PERPLEXED.

(1) No, I don't think that the man you are now going with would do that, but unless he tells you that he loves you, you have no right to be sure of his love. It may be that he loves you very much, but is not ready for marriage yet. You must remember that he is only twenty-two and hardly old enough to assume the responsibilities of a home. You have no need to worry about whether he wants to marry you or not.

HAROLD C.

You are too young to think of marriage. Go with the girl and enjoy her friendship now. In about five years, if you still love her, you will be old enough to talk to her about it.

Letters of Two Women

By ZOE DECKLER

KATE, TOO, STRIKES A SNAG.

NEW YORK, Sunday Afternoon.—Well, Maizie, don't you feel just back up and stumble on and when the bairn comes all the differences and difficulties will seem like a foolish dream, too trifling to remember. You're hypersensitive now, remember, and Curtis is, after all, a good deal of an inexperienced kid. You yourself said, "he's only a year and a half younger than I am but years and years younger in experience of the world, he has been by an adoring mother.

He has been trained in selfishness, but I think it will work out of his system as he gets older and has responsibilities, just as an awkward, untidy boy gradually grows into a polished gentleman.

And, May, it is hard for a ruggedly healthy male creature to appreciate what we may call infirmities of sex, such as you're undergoing now.

Why, even I am up against something the same sort of thing. Paul, for instance, is gifted with a social sense coupled with a huskiness of body that now seems to impair his health, but I'm so tired at night when I come home that by the time dinner's out of the way I'm ready just to be quiet. It's such an effort to work my brain.

"Well, bless its heart, it needn't work its brain," says Paul. "It's doing its part, and more than doing it. Don't worry. You suff me just as you are, Kit."

But the worry is there just the same, Maizie. If I don't stir myself and make the effort, Paul will give up with his friends and we will drift away. Friends are like to Paul. And I'm an unsocial creature. Telegraph me instantly the Kiddie comes.

KATE.

SHALL WE CHANGE THE NAME OF CHRISTMAS?

What are you going to do about Christmas this year? Are you going to have just the name of Christmas as usual, the same carnival of cookery and holiday of self-indulgence, the same exchange of luxuries behind a camouflage of generosity, the same good of good will when one is in a state of irritability brought on by tearing oneself to bits to get this or that last thing done?

"I will no longer insult Him by celebrating a holiday called by His name and absolutely at variance with His spirit."

"Will Be the One."

"Or are you going to say, 'I have gone on with this business of exchanging, this extravagance in the face of poverty and suffering, long enough. This is the year of my escape.' I have a reason this year so powerful that it will help me to break the iron bands of habit and conventionality and make a new kind of Christmas that, please God, I shall cling to the rest of my life."

Our Snug, Complacent, Convention-made Christmas.

"This is the year when no one can possibly resent a change. This year when we hear of foreign peoples starving by the thousands, of babies pinning away because there is no milk of soldiers lacking warm clothes, of infinite suffering because of the high cost of living here at home. To go on with our snug, complacent, convention-made holidays would be to take the Christ out of Christmas.

"I will no longer insult Him by celebrating a holiday called by His name and absolutely at variance with His spirit."

They have received no special care, except that they have been kept in a shelter during storms and rain when in the winter time they are out of doors as not even a sheep can always manage to thrive on what they can dig and paw from under the snow. But should a hard crust form on the snow extra feed is necessary.

When the goats arrived at the farm they were turned into an eighteen acre farm in which the hazel brush and sumac had grown so densely that it places the farm as impossible. About two acres of the field was clear of brush and undergrowth. The goats went to work immediately and the effect of their grazing was at once apparent. Today the brush is all killed out and after some of the larger dead brush and stumps are cleared on the market for the surplus stock, either to the markets for meat or to owners of rough land who are looking for just such animals. Owners of brushy land in this section of the state would do well to investigate the possibilities of clearing their land by this efficient, profitable method. Goats should be more popular and the only reason why they are not, Mr. Hull says, is because farmers generally do not know what goats can do for them and how very profitable they are.

BADGERS ARE READY FOR MAROON CONTEST

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—Rested and rounded after a week of easy work the Badgers have resumed their preparations for their last game of the season at Chicago next Sunday. The Maroons, however, from the crushing defeat suffered by Minnesota Saturday will play desperately to redeem themselves. Coach Richards will perfect a defense to stop Higgins, whose work against Minnesota stood out as the bright light of Chicago's play.

Captain Hancock will play the last and crucial game of his university career at Chicago. The big tackle has more than held his own against every opponent he has met so far. He will play before a horde of critics in the Chicago game, and is sure to attract favorable notice from leading football scribes.

A large number of students are figuring on going to Chicago to cheer the team on to victory. The students are figuring they can stand a class cut in order to see Wisconsin win.

BOXING ABANDONED IN NEW YORK STATE

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS)
New York, Nov. 20.—After six years of boxing under legal control the game of gloved fistfights has again been abandoned throughout New York state. The last bouts under the provisions of the law were held Nov. 11 and such contests as may be held in the future will probably be staged under the so-called "club membership plan." An idea of the popularity of boxing, even under the restrictions of the law just repeated, may be gained from the fact that the gate receipts during the six years of the ring game amounted to about $5,000,000, and the state's share was $400,000.

The official returns for 1917 are not available at this time, but the compilation reports for the years between 1911 and 1916 show that $4,502,230 was paid in at the gates of the various boxing clubs located throughout the state and that the sum received under the legislature tax amounted to $262,000. The estimated receipts for the current year are placed at close to $500,000 and the tax returns at about $40,000.

During the period of boxing under the Frawley law two titles changed hands as the result of knockouts scored in the rings of New York city. Al McCoy wrested the middleweight title away from George Chip in April, 1914, knocking out the champion in one round. McCoy in turn lost his title in a sensational bout with Mike O'Dowd in the last big bout under the Frawley law, when he was knocked out by the St. Paul boxer in the sixth round of their bout held Nov. 14, 1915.

The other champion lost and lost was the featherweight title which passed from Updegraff to Benny Leonard earlier in the present year when the latter scored a clean knockout of the Welshman in their third meeting in this city.

Other bouts of particular interest were the Willard-Moran and the McFarland-Gibbons matches which set a record in record gate receipts. Probably the most exciting boxing ever under the recently defunct law was the K. O. Brown-Mat Wells battle. This was the first big contest held under the Frawley rules and apparently every follower of boxing for miles about New York was eager to get into his way into Madison Square Garden for the initial bout. The result was a narrow call for police reserves and legalized boxing began under discouraging circumstances. For all-round excitement and execution the Tompkins-Well-Al Palzer battle at the Garden was probably the most sensational one staged during the entire six years of boxing.

With Jack Hendricks counted out as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals next season the name of the next Card boss remains a secret. Branch Rickey probably knows who it will be, but he isn't going to tell just yet. In the meanwhile everyone is doing any amount of wondering.

MEANS TO CLEAR THE FAMILY NAME

"Pinky" Mitchell.

Since Richie Mitchell has just quit the fight game, following the K. O. handed him by Dennis Leonard, his younger brother "Pinky" has decided to win the fighting honors for the family. "Pinky" shows promise of going great at professional fighting after a brilliant record in the amateurs. He is rangy, a hard hitter and very fast.

TO RE-ELECT TENER TO THE PRESIDENCY

WILCE HAS LUCK, BUT CLASS ALSO

Jack Wilce.

Jack Wilce, Ohio State coach, has been more fortunate than other coaches in starting the season with most of his last season's champions intact, but it hasn't been all luck that has made Wilce a winner with State. O. S. U. has developed a number of new men this season that are in the same class with several of last year's vets.

"Tiny" Marshall of Pennsylvania university believes that a football referee should rule the field with a iron hand. If there's any rough stuff on view, punishment is officiating it is likely to get far. "Tiny" was recently the referee of a game wherein one of the participating teams had the reputation of trying most all the rough stuff in the book. Before the game began Marshall announced that he was going to penalize the rough boys on their first three plays. The first play Brown, the punished penalty and immediately thereafter was a large roar from the offenders. Marshall didn't budge a bit and on the next play he penalized the team again. "What for? What for?" yelled the furious "bad men." "Just to show you whose running this game," said Tiny, "and what's more I can tell you, you're going to be penalized on the next play, too." And from that time on the rough stuff subsided.

Bon Boynton of Williams college is coming into prominence in the east as one of the brightest young football stars developed in recent years. Though it is in defensive play that Boynton does most of his starring he is also a hard man to bring down while traveling with the ball and in a recent game he scored four touchdowns. Williams has a grand team for a small school, but it is a one-man team and Boynton is the man.

Garry Herrmann has been re-elected president of the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds have enjoyed an unusual prosperity ever since Manager Matty has been with them, and since Herrmann swing the deal that brought Mathewson to the Reds he stands in better than ever before. Herrmann will also be re-elected chairman of the national commission, a job he has held down to everyone's satisfaction for something like fourteen years.

Just because the Washington Senators have not been making lots of money is no reason to suppose that they are going to retire from the game. Walter Johnson says that he would deplore the thought that he would deplore the thought that he would deplore the thought that the most popular Senator is having one of its greatest seasons in several years and long may it last. Especially when it is used to prove that we can do any deploring. Minor says that the Senators are on a sound financial basis and do we suppose that just because they have dropped a few nickels they are going to get cold feet and retire? Not such a thing. Several glacial periods will come and go before the Washington club drops out of the American league says Mr. Minor.

Walter Johnson has declared that he would be having a hard pull to hold on in the big show if he were never able to pitch any better than he does while playing in Boston. Somehow or other when Walter goes up against the Red Sox in their home lot he has a terrible time of it. He beat the Red Sox in the final series in Boston this past season, but it was the first time such a thing happened in three years.

Ira Thomas, Connie Mack's right-hand man, tells about a bonehead he play he once pulled himself and it didn't happen on the diamond. It appears that the Athletics were the world champions and they were playing an exhibition game in the south. A dinner had been arranged in their honor by some of the town's leading citizens and all of the players were in attendance. Ira was called upon for a speech and he arose to explain at some length the common sense and wisdom shown by the ball player. And after it was all over it was brought to Ira's attention that the "weird" element of the town had been the player's hosts.

SLACKERS

THE WOMAN WHO WEARS VERY LONG SKIRTS TO AVOID DARNING HER STOCKINGS.

Hennie Leonard may hold on to his lightweight title for some time to come and it seems certain that a serious menace to his crown is not to be found in the class at present. As to the other classes there are no champions whose claim is sure and unchallenged. Both Johnny Ertle and Kid Herman have claims on the bantamweight title. Al McCoy has claimed the middleweight title after defeating George Chip, but he has never defended it against a real competitor. It is not every inch a champion. Mike Gibbons is generally regarded as the bantam champion in this class, but he has no title to speak of. Ted Lewis has declared himself to be the welterweight king since beating Jack Britton, but even his deed does not show him to have a clear claim on the property. On the whole the fight game is in something of a muddle so far as honest-to-goodness champions are concerned.

Young Mike Murphy, son of the well-known trainer, is making a rep for himself in athletics that must please the old gentleman. Young Mike is playing with the Allentown Ambulance eleven in the first aid in a recent game against Eddie Mahan's Marines. Mike Murphy, chief star of the day, young Murphy has shown all sorts of class at drop kicking and also at heaving forward passes.

At this moment when conservation of energy, time and dollars is so vital to national welfare, when merchants are making so many unexpected outlays—the Maxwell is fighting for economical administration, laboring day and night at a minimum wage and furnishing competent and reliable transportation at the lowest load cost at which goods have been carried in our time.

Maxwell maintenance and repair bills are the lowest of record. It furnishes American Commerce, never so sadly in need of labor, a truck which even a boy can operate and understand.

Just the right size, for the average firm. 2400 pounds. But muscled for giant burdens. Worm drive—a feature hitherto associated with the highest priced trucks.

Sold under the same guarantee as $5000 trucks are. Electric lights and generator. 10-foot loading space. 16 miles to the gallon. The lowest priced one-ton truck in the world and sold on liberal terms. $985: and it will earn its cost out of the savings it effects.

DETAILS OF VERDUN
ATTACK ARE KNOWN

ASSOCIATED PRESS
French Front, Nov. 20.—One of the disappointments which the German crown prince has suffered since the capture of Verdun has just been brought to light in documents found on German prisoners. From these it appears that while the French were inflicting a smashing blow on the German troops still menacing Verdun on Aug. 20 last when the crown prince not only had some valuable ground but about 3,000 of his selected men were taken prisoners—the Germans were carefully preparing an attack on a grand scale from a point about a mile to the east of Aubervilliers to the Seine heights.
French activity in front of the fortress of Verdun upset these plans completely and caused the Crown Prince to call off for an indefinite period any attempt to carry out an offensive movement in this region.

Details of the projected attack, as a result of which the German commander had hoped to gain possession of an important part of territory on the Champagne front, show that the crown prince's operation was to be played by First Bavarian division which was brought up to full strength for the purpose and had enjoyed a period of repose and special training by two other divisions on its right and left flanks respectively.

The Bavarian division had received orders to prepare to furnish twelve sections of chosen shock troops, each section composed of one officer and forty-seven men. Behind these shock troops were to follow twelve "assault squads" and twelve "destruction squads," each composed of a ten-man party, acting officer and thirty-two men.

The confidence of the crown prince in the success of the intended blow at the French was so great that he had ordered twelve teams of six horses each to be ready to gallop off with the captured French caisson, filled with an officer and fifty men, the engineer corps would stand by prepared to detonate gun positions and guns that could not be carried off.

It had been arranged that an extremely dense cloud of gas should be emitted over the French infantry and artillery positions during the initial attack. Batteries of field guns were to be stationed at an immediate support of the shock troops. Air planes were to fly low and participate in the infantry work. The whole operation was, according to agreement in the German orders, "a summer harvest."

It was fixed for Aug. 16, but On Aug. 16 the French troops further east in the vicinity of Verdun started an movement on their own account, for on that day they opened their artillery preparation for their intended attack on Aug. 20. The men ace to the Germans holding the lines before Verdun became so great that the crown prince was obliged to send the two divisions which had been ordered to support the Bavarians in the attack. Champagne to the help of the troops at Verdun and to fill their places by two other divisions which had just suffered terrific losses in a consequence not in the best condition for severe fighting. At the same time even the elements were contrary to the Germans.

Later orders show that the German commander was obliged first to put the attack off till Sept. 1. Before that date arrived he had evidence in the shape of French artillery activity and infantry raids in the Cambrai sector that a surprise was out of the question. That the French fire became so severe that on Sept. 10 the German crown prince decided to give up the idea of an offensive in this section and began to withdraw to the rear his guns, troops and other material which had been intended to help in the reaping of an abundant harvest of prisoners and the gain of a considerable strip of territory.

One more French had been able to impose their will on the enemy and to make him fight just where and when they wanted him to do so.

of American trade in Russia after the war, the Commercial and Industrial Gazette suggests that the part to be played by Americans will be great.
"Russia," says the Gazette, "in the near future will play the part of buyer more than that of seller and therefore it is necessary that American commercial men should be well acquainted with the demands of the Russian market and with the conditions of buying and selling in Russia.
In order to obtain this the Americans should organize an experienced staff of traveling agents, with a good knowledge of customs. The agents, by constant contact with the Russians, would soon get to know the needs of the Russian market, and would be able to suit American produce to Russian needs, so that they would be above all competition."

The same method of carrying goods by means of agents should also be applied to products of America.
Russia is in a condition to export to America
(we buy) seeds, clover seeds, etc.).
Parallel with this, it would be desirable to form in Russia a staff of trained mechanics and engineers, who should undertake the management and development of railways in Russia.

There is no doubt that after the war Russia will have an extensive market for agricultural implements, which branch of trade has always been of great interest to Americans. Therefore, it would be to America's advantage to have a large staff of enlightened workmen in Russia, to which the Americans would doubtless willingly throw open the doors of their industrial schools and workshops to Russian workers. On the other hand, Russian institutions would also willingly take in Americans desirous of learning the conditions of commerce in Russia.

"In such a manner there would be an exchange of practical workers, which from an economic point of view is the best way to insure success."

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Nov. 20.—The work of raising money for the Y. M. C. A. and in this city has been completed. The men in charge of the work of collecting the money were all well pleased to be associated with the liberal donations of the people. Although the quota was $1,200 that sum was exceeded and there is about $1,600 at the banks, besides the fund from the Normal school.

Some unusual game has been shot in this vicinity recently. A. A. Krueger went hunting coots in the flats and after a long chase bagged one that weighed 22 lbs. Ed. Hobbs, in looking over his traps one morning, found an opossum in one of them. Carroll Marshall was hunting in the town of Lima and his attention was drawn by a flock of crows in pursuit of a large bird. A shot from long range brought him to earth and it proved to be an eagle weighing eight pounds and measuring eight feet from tip to tip. The Billed boys shot three geese at Koshkonong and one of them was smaller and darker, said to be to be a Mexican or black nose.

If You Are Planning To Get a

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

BUY IT NOW

5 Reasons Why You Should Buy a Ford and Buy It Now:

REASON 1—The price is lower by comparison with other cars than at any previous time.

REASON 2—Its economy in operation was never more important than in these days of high cost. It is a patriotic duty for every citizen to prevent waste and a Ford offers that opportunity.

REASON 3—The Ford is the nationally accepted vehicle for commercial purposes. It is the accepted common sense motor where any hard going is expected.

REASON 4—The Coupelet and Sedan have already advanced $55 and $50 respectively, so the price of a touring car is so perilously near the danger line that we do not know what moment we will be called upon to announce a substantial advance.

REASON 5—The fifth and most astounding fact is that IT NOW COSTS $170 MORE for material that goes into a Model T Ford than last year, which means that the person is fortunate indeed who is able to buy at the present price.

PERSONS WHO BUY FORDS NOW WILL NOT ONLY SAVE MONEY BUT WILL BE SURE OF GETTING

ONE WHILE THOSE WHO WAIT MAY NOT BE ABLE TO BUY ONE AT ANY PRICE.

Touring Car $360, Roadster $345, Sedan $695

Chasis $325, Coupelet $560
